

The Raddison has a company that patrols their parking lot because they have found a lot of people parking then going to other nearby restaurants, or flying off for a day or two, because they do not have a gated-paid parking lot. They do charge our overnight guests for parking, but meeting attendees do not pay for parking.

All hotel guests register their vehicle license plate numbers at our front desk upon check in so they are not ticketed by the parking patrol company.

They are due to patrol during our meetings. Because the parking is complimentary for meeting attendees and you do not want a ticket, stop at the front desk and register your license plate number with the front desk.

If a guest is attending both days, just registering on the first day is sufficient. If someone is attending on the second day only, they will need to stop and register at the desk.