COMMUNITY AND OUTREACH TEAM

COVID PAST AND FUTURE

We continue to learn and implement new ways to engage with our residents to understand and remove barriers to our services during these ever-changing times. Utilizing virtual meeting platforms, we provide:

• Information on all Department of Licensing services.
• Assistance on navigating agency online services.
• Webinars and meeting presentations.
• Support during emergencies, such as fires or floods, where residents have lost their identity documents.

We also continue work on the implementation of the REAL ID Act that has been moved to May 3, 2023. We have an updated toolkit in multiple languages to help communities understand new travel requirements. You can access the ID2023 Toolkit here.

Our team is committed to identifying important issues unique to each community and demonstrating respect for others’ cultures. We also are committed to understanding barriers to our services and how they may be removed. We do this with your support and spending time with community organizations and partners to seek feedback, build relationships and trust.

As we move forward to fulfill our agency mission “Helping every Washington resident live, work, drive, and thrive” we are grateful for your collaboration and support.

We are here for you. Please don’t hesitate to contact us at DOLCommOutreach@dol.wa.gov

With Gratitude,

THE DOL OUTREACH TEAM

Recent Court Ruling means changes for Drivers with Failure-to-Appear Suspensions for Non-criminal Moving Violations

A court recently ruled that “failure to appear” suspensions for drivers with non-criminal moving violations must be rescinded. On April 30, 2021, the Thurston County Superior Court ruled that the state law authorizing the Department of Licensing (DOL) to suspend driver licenses of individuals who fail to respond, fail to appear, or fail to pay tickets for non-criminal moving violations (so called “FTA” suspensions) violates our state Constitution because it does not require courts to offer individuals the opportunity to have a hearing to present evidence of their inability to pay the fine. In its simplest form, the term “notario publico” or “notario” translates to notary public. In many Latin American countries, a Notario is a person who went to college and obtained a law degree. Notarios have the authority to give advice and legal help in these countries. However, in the United States, a Notary does not have to go to law school or college. Nor are they trained to help people with immigration or legal services.

In Washington State, notaries may take acknowledgments, administer oaths and certify an event has occurred or an act has been performed. In Mexico, for example, notaries have a much broader range of duties, they can draft deeds for transfer of real property, issue judicial opinions, intervene in judicial proceedings, and ensure that documents do not include legal inconsistencies.

There have been several cases of American notaries public advertising themselves as notarios público, which may lead some people to believe that a notary public is capable of offering legal advice, which is not the case. Because the term notario público has been associated with legal practice, a notary public licensed in Washington State is not allowed to advertise themselves as a “notario” or “notario público” unless they are also a licensed attorney. As of June 2021, there are over 75,000 active Notary Public licensees in the State of WA.

Did You Know?

Washington State is one of 29 states that allow for remote online notarization of legal documents.

Notes from the Call Center – Frequently Asked Questions

Do I need an appointment to visit a vehicle licensing office?
No, our Vehicle Licensing offices are open on a walk-in basis. You can use the Office Locations tool on our website to locate an office that is convenient for you.

Can I go into the driver licensing office and schedule my appointment?
At this time, appointments can only be made using our website, or by calling and selecting the option in the phone menu for assistance with your appointment.

I received an email from “motor vehicle department” saying if I click on a link I can find out if I qualify for a refund as a result of a court ruling. Is this from DOL?
This message is from a scammer trying to get your personal information. DOL will never send a message like this. Ignore or delete messages you suspect are fraudulent. Never click on links in unsolicited texts or emails.

How do I pay online and avoid the transaction fee?
If you pay online with a credit or debit card, there is a 3% payment fee. You can pay using your checking account information online for no added fee. You’ll need your account number and bank’s routing number.
Appointments are required for in-person services. If your transaction cannot be done online, schedule an appointment at www.dol.wa.gov.

While appointments are limited, some offices have more availability than others. Check other nearby driver licensing offices or build a visit into your summer travel.

As more Washingtonians are vaccinated, we are slowly opening more counters at our offices and will be working to reopen offices currently closed. More appointments are added frequently. The latest office to reopen is Sunnyside on September 1.

In early July, DOL updated their online systems including License eXpress. Enhancements include an improved appointment scheduling tool and fewer steps when pre-applying for a driver license or identification card. This will make scheduling an appointment even easier.

Don’t forget the documents needed to complete your transaction. Our online scheduling system provides information on what to bring so you’ll be prepared.
